

Bridge/Intro

Everybody on this earth
Is equal at birth
Unless you don't have a
Lot of money
A lot of money

Verse 1

Let me tell you how its been going down for quite some time.
From the dawn of man to President spray tan corruption has happened a lot.
Money makes all politicians turn fake and never show their true selves.
Then there's the super PACs who have stacks upon stacks of money to throw around.

Chorus

They say we all of a voice
Rather the illusion of choice
The answer to life is to spend
Since money always wins in the end

Bridge

Everybody on this earth
Is equal at birth
Unless you don't have a
Lot of money
A lot of money

Verse 2

Let's take a look at our history books back to 1893.
When Sanford B. Dole and farmers with their payroll held a coup in Hawaii.
All the tariffs in place he thought were a disgrace and put a dent in American profits.
So he overthrew Queen Liliuokalani, the last of her people.

Chorus

They say we all of a voice
More like the illusion of choice
The answer to life is to spend
Since money always wins in the end

Verse 3

Benjamin Harrison argued for annexation.
He said stability would come economically and bring peace to everyone.
However then Grover Cleveland opposed such a proposition.
He (kinda) said this is rude since now the natives are screwed all thanks to us.

Chorus

They say we all of a voice
More like the illusion of choice
The answer to life is to spend
Since money always wins in the end
